CCTV images have been released of a man police want to speak to in connection with attacks on two women in Finsbury Park.

In both attacks, the victims were jabbed with a sharp implement, possibly a needle.

The first happened at about 9.30am on Friday November 18 in Green Lanes when the man attacked a 24-year-old woman who was waiting at a bus stop close to the railway station.

The attacker fled from the scene along Umfreville Road towards Wightman Road.

Five days later police believe the same man stabbed a 29-year-old woman, who was standing at a bus stop in Ferme

Park Road at about 2.30pm. While both victims were only slightly hurt, they must undergo a series of medical tests to ensure they are free from any infections.

The suspect is described as of Mediterranean appearance and 6ft tall, with dark hair. He was wearing a baseball cap and a dark-coloured jacket.

Det Con Ben Jefferd, who is leading the investigation, said: "The man committing these offences loiters at bus stops before appearing to select a victim and attacking them.

"These assaults obviously cause great distress to the victims in the weeks after while they await crucial test results. I ask anyone with information who could help us locate this man to come forward as soon as possible."

Anyone with information or who knows the whereabouts of the suspect is being asked to contact the incident room at Tottenham CID on 07785 381215, or Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

MAN JAILED OVER £14,000 DRUG HAUL

Cannabis resin found in holdalls as police carried out stop-and-search

A MAN caught with £14,000 worth of cannabis resin during a stop and search operation has been jailed for 30 months.

Unemployed David Michael Byrne, 44, of Trulock Road, Tottenham, was sentenced at Wood Green Crown Court on Friday after pleading guilty to possession with intent to supply the class B drug cannabis at an earlier hearing.

Police officers from Haringey's Priority Crime Team were on patrol following a stabbing in Philip Lane in October when they spotted Byrne.

He was walking in Northumberland Park, near the junction with Trulock Road, carrying two holdalls over his right shoulder that appeared to be heavy. The officers stopped and spoke to Byrne and told him he was going to be detained and searched.

They discovered about 20 large bars of a brown substance – later confirmed by laboratory tests to be 5.08kg of cannabis resin – in the holdalls, estimated to have a street value of £14,000.

The court heard that Byrne had been released from prison in May 2011 and was on licence for offences concerning conspiracy to supply cannabis at the time of his arrest.

The defence stated that Byrne had become involved in the previous offences because he had owed his supplier money and wanted to pay off the debt, but that his customers turned out to be undercover police officers.

On sentencing, Mr Recorder T. Weitzman, QC, applauded Byrne for the fact that he had pleaded guilty at the earliest opportunity and the judge accepted that Byrne played a "subsidiary role in relation to what was a substantial supply", acting as a courier, but added that his role was "a serious matter".

Supt Chris Barclay, in charge of operational policing in Haringey, said: "The main priorities of stop and search are to prevent and detect crime and deter people from carrying weapons or illegal drugs. This conviction shows that where people choose to carry such items, we will do all that we can to catch them and put them before the courts.

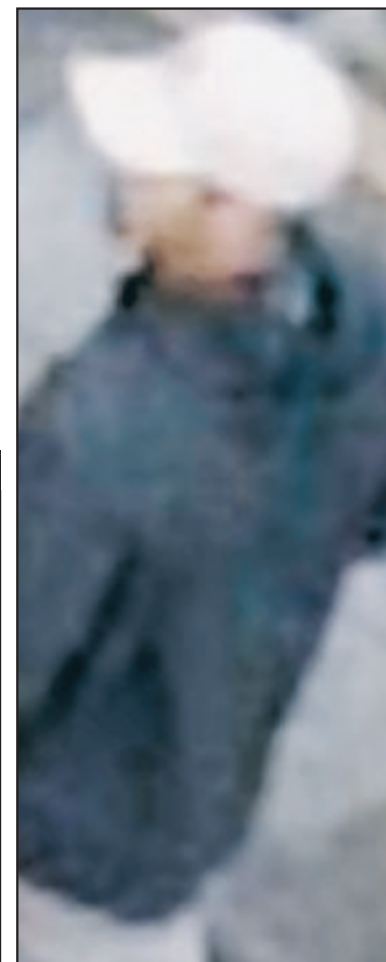

"Drug-related, anti-social behaviour and motor vehicle crime are ward priorities in Northumberland Park that are being tackled by the local Safer Neighbourhoods team on a daily basis. Acquisitive crimes, such as car break-ins, are often linked to the prevalence of drugs in an area as users of illegal drugs find ways to fund their habit.

"This conviction illustrates to the community in Northumberland Park that police teams are working together to tackle the issues that matter most to them."

Hundreds take to the streets in mass public sector walk-out

ANNE-MARIE SANDERSON

AN ESTIMATED two million public sector workers took part in a country-wide strike last Wednesday in a co-ordinated protest against the government's raid on pension schemes.

Edward Lander, a social worker in Haringey, explained why it was important for public sector workers to stand together against the proposed changes to pensions.

"It is as if the government wants to privatise the entire public sector," he said.

"We are doing this strike to protect our pension plans."

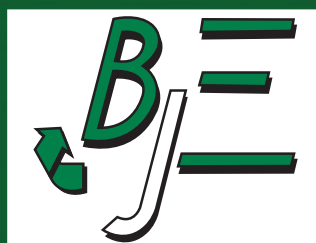

The coalition government insists the current pension schemes are no longer affordable and points out that most public sector workers receive more generous pension arrangements than their private sector counterparts.

But Mr Lander added: "We work hard - we cannot put up with being made to work longer, pay more into our pensions and receive less at the end of the day."

He insisted that strike action was the most effective way of getting the message across, adding: "If you don't stand up at some point, you are just going to get rolled over."

New plea over cyclist injured in hit-and-run

A CYCLIST was left with serious injuries after a car driver reversed into him at full speed before fleeing from the scene in Tottenham.

Police have renewed an appeal for information and particularly want to hear from car repair shops or garages that may have dealt with damage to the back of a dark people carrier.

The 46-year-old cyclist was treated at the Royal London Hospital for head and chest injuries and has been discharged.

The driver is described as a mixed-race black man about 5ft 5in/5ft 7in tall and aged between 25 and 30. He had short hair.

It is believed that the rear lights and the rear window of the people carrier were damaged.

The incident took place at the junction of Walthef Avenue and Tower Gardens Road at 7.30pm on Thursday October 13.

Investigating officer Det Con Marysia Temple, of Haringey CID, said: "We believe the driver deliberately drove into the victim before making off, leaving the victim with serious injuries.

"We are pursuing every possible lead to identify the person responsible. It is important that anyone with information contacts me before another incident like this takes place with more serious consequences."

Det Con Temple can be contacted on 020 8345 0831. Alternatively call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555 111.

Police's 'Movember' call is a sign of support for youngster

THINGS have been getting a bit hairy for a group of Haringey policemen looking to raise money for charities working to battle childhood cancer.

Officers from E-Team – five special shifts ensuring emergency response policing in the borough – were inspired to grow moustaches last month during "Movember" to raise funds for the Robyn Higgins Appeal.

Robyn is the daughter of a serving Met detective who was diagnosed at the age of seven with stage four neuroblastoma and has spent much time since then undergoing treatment in hospitals in the UK and US, or being visited by community nurses on an almost daily basis for medication.

The tumour was removed in 2009 during surgery that left her unable to walk – but returned in April this year. There is no cure available in the UK and Robyn has returned to America with her family for further treatment.

PC Chris Allen collected money from staff and fellow officers while dressed in full 1860s replica uniform, on loan from the Metropolitan Police Service Historical Collection.

"I think I can speak for all the officers who joined in the spirit of Movember when I say we were pleased to be able to put a smile on people's faces while also raising awareness of this terrible illness," said PC Allen.

"We have heard how brave Robyn has been and hope that our efforts help in some way," Greg Higgins, Robyn's father, said: "When you are stuck in this nightmare, knowing that people are helping makes it that bit easier."

Officers are also remembering Jack

Police whiskers: PC Chris Allen in 1860s uniform with Haringey colleagues taking part in 'Movember' to help Robyn Higgins (right)

Brown, who died after a four-year battle against neuroblastoma.

His parents, both of whom are serving Met officers, initiated a campaign in 2008 to raise funds to bring therapies available in the United States and elsewhere to the UK. Joining Against Cancer In Kids also aims to improve existing treatment for children with neuroblastoma as well as research into new treatments.

In May next year, Haringey Borough Commander Detective Chief Supt

Sandra Looby will be among 80 officers in Jack's Pack (Police Against Cancer In Kids) running a half-marathon in New York and pulling a plane at JFK airport to raise money for The Jack Foundation.

Ms Looby said: "I'm very pleased to see my officers doing what they can to support the battle against this aggressive form of childhood cancer and bringing smiles to people's faces while doing it. Our thoughts and best wishes are with Robyn and her family."

School celebrates after 'outstanding' Ofsted assessment

A SCHOOL in Hornsey is celebrating after being rated as "outstanding" by Ofsted.

St Mary's Church Of England Infant School received a glowing report from inspectors, who described it as "a place pupils love coming to".

Ofsted found that children at St Mary's make "good progress and attain high levels in reading, writing and mathematics because teaching is of a consistently high level" and that pupils with special educational needs make "exceptional" progress.

Headteacher Fran Hargrove said the report was a reflection of the school's ethos and the dedication of every member of the staff.

"I'm over the moon that St Mary's has now officially been recognised as an 'outstanding' school," she said.

"I've known since I came here a year ago that I was inheriting a school with some very significant strengths and an amazing team of staff.

Highly rated: St Mary's Church Of England Infant School

"My thanks go to them. They deserve this endorsement of their work.

"I grew up in Haringey and have attended Haringey schools since the age of three, so I know what I'm talking about when I tell the children at St Mary's that Haringey is both a fantastic and fascinating place to grow up and go to school. Being the headteacher at St Mary's gives me an immense amount of pride."

Lorna Reith, Haringey Council's cabinet member for children, added her praise for the school staff, pupils and parents.

SENDING OFF WAS HARSH SAYS HARRY

TOTTENHAM Hotspur boss Harry Redknapp admitted Bolton Wanderers defender Gary Cahill was unlucky to be sent off during his side's 3-0 win on Saturday.

The in-demand centre-back brought down England colleague Scott Parker just inside the Bolton half after miscontrolling the ball. But despite a covering defender and the incident being more than 50 yards from goal, referee Stuart Atwell pulled out a red card with just 17 minutes gone.

"The sending off was a bit harsh," said the Spurs boss. "I saw a game earlier [the Chelsea versus Newcastle match] and there was a blatant sending off and the referee didn't send the player off and then this one...I couldn't believe it when the red card came out, I was very surprised."

"I couldn't see a red card coming. It was a very unusual one to give that as a goal-scoring opportunity. I couldn't see where we were clean through on goal there, for sure."

Although the incident gave Spurs the numerical advantage, Redknapp's men were already a goal to the good after Gareth Bale steered home early on and the north London side gave another accomplished performance to

Busy: Scott Parker was the player brought down by Gary Cahill, which led to the Bolton man's red card notch their sixth consecutive win.

"We needed that second goal and I wanted it before half-time, but we managed to get it at the start of the second half. Once that came, it was all over. We were comfortable in the end," Redknapp added.

Spurs, who went into the game unbeaten in ten Premier League matches, started well and went ahead after seven minutes when Bale beat his marker to Luka Modric's corner and steered the ball past Jussi Jaaskelainen.

In truth, Tottenham should have been home and dry by half time with Jermain Defoe, Emmanuel Adebayor and Bale, again, all going close, but they found Jaaskelainen in superb form in the Bolton goal.

The Finn pulled off stop after stop to keep his side in the game – including another from Bale and one from Parker after half time – but eventually Spurs got the goal they deserved and needed.

Aaron Lennon cut in from wide on the left before smashing the ball past the Bolton keeper after good build up play from Adebayor and Defoe on 50 minutes.

Defoe, who has been linked with a move away from White Hart Lane in order to boost his Euro 2012 hopes with England, then capped his third consecutive start in all competitions with a goal ten minutes later.

Another Modric corner was flicked on by Bale and the nippy forward tapped home with ease to put Spurs home and dry.

Tottenham had further chances to extend the scoreline, but failed to find a way past the highly impressive Jaaskelainen.

Next up for Spurs, who drew npower League Two side Cheltenham Town in the third round of the FA Cup, is a trip to Stoke City on Sunday (ko 4pm).

Royston end Haringey's hopes of a Wembley trip

HARINGEY Borough's hopes of a long run in the FA Vase ended in defeat to Royston Town in the third round of the competition on Saturday.

There was little to choose between the two sides for much of the encounter, but Royston looked to get their noses in front after being awarded a penalty. However, Nick Christofi was equal to the spot kick.

The Crows then began to take their chances, and Tom Malins put the visitors ahead after 34 minutes.

Borough did have opportunities of their own, but they found Will Norris in excellent form in the away goal.

But the tie was effectively over when Malins scored his second of the game on 74 minutes and Borough were reduced to ten men when Demetri Stratis was shown his second yellow card.

There were brief hopes of a late comeback from the home side when Richard Worrell netted from the penalty spot with six minutes remaining, but Royston were able to close out the game and progress to the next round of the competition.

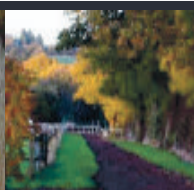

Haringey had overcome Tring Athletic to reach the third round of the Vase and they travel to face the same side in the league this Saturday (ko 3pm).
